

Finance Manager Collaborates with Amazon Business to Streamline Procurement

EAST SETAUKET, NY—Continuing its tradition of offering New York school districts the most current and innovative software solutions, Finance Manager has collaborated with Amazon Business to enhance the purchasing process within its nVision software via a seamless integration between nVision and Amazon Business.

Finance Manager's clients now can directly access the Amazon Business store through nVision. Users will then be able to add items to their shopping cart, while both nVision and Amazon Business applications maintain their connection. Once checkout is complete, the selected items will be transferred back to the nVision Computer Purchase Order and/or Requisition Entry window. The Requisition can then be converted to a purchase order and the Computer PO will be sent electronically for Amazon Business to fulfill.

"We are excited to collaborate with a company like Amazon Business, that has such a vast selection of products and is already so well-known in the marketplace," said Mercedes Burgos, President of Finance Manager. "Being able to offer this unique integration feature further bolsters our position as the industry leader by offering our clients the convenience of purchasing through Amazon Business, while saving time, improving accuracy and reducing costs."

For more than 30 years, Finance Manager has been providing New York school districts and municipalities with superior accounting and administrative software. nVision offers an advanced suite of payroll, human resources, purchasing, accounting, and budgeting solutions to meet the complex needs of the K-12 market and fully integrates with FM's Timepiece and OptiGate products.
